Statement Regarding Unfulfilled Service Requests for Broadband Detail on Attempts

47 CFR § 54.313(a)(3)

Form 481, Line 330

Statement Regarding Functionality in Emergency Situations

47 CFR § 54.313(a) (6)

Form 481, Line 610

Nex-Tech's traditional voice service switching platform is fully redundant and is geographically separated. Redundant switches are connected using an IP network that is redundant and diversity routed. The platform is fed by a DC power plant with 8 hour operating battery backup. Nex-Tech also has 74 generators available at various locations to provide power to the network during any extended outages.

Nex-Tech has an onsite command center mobile office which would allow management and plant personnel the ability to set up a mobile office if a disaster occurs.

Nex-Tech has instituted a 24 hour Network Operations Center (NOC) which monitors the network and is able to reroute traffic and manage traffic spikes during a disaster or other emergency situation.

Broadband services also has a redundant DC battery power supply at the router locations and all are backed up with generated power at each location in case of power outage. Separate and different transport connections are available to insure internet transport from the router to the internet backbone.

What is Lifeline?

Every person in America should have access to quality, affordable telecommunications service.

This principle of “Universal Service” has been the goal of the telecommunications industry for decades. In 1934, the federal government codified the goal and reaffirmed it in 1996 by establishing policies for the “preservation and advancement of Universal Service.”

To achieve the Universal Service goal, carriers have access to a fund that is generated by contributions from the telecommunications providers in the United States. Telecommunications companies draw from the fund to provide four programs that support telecommunications services nationwide.

Toll Limitation Service is another program available to low income subscribers to help them control what they spend on phone service.

Lifeline and Toll Limitation Service support provide discounts to eligible low-income consumers to help them establish and maintain phone and Internet service.

To apply for Lifeline, contact your local Nex-Tech store.
